Daly the Natural Shrinkage That Come With Midsummer Heat.

New York, July 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: It is not the season for the tide of business to rise, but there is perceived scarcely any shrinkage except that which comes naturally with midsummer heat. The volume of new business is small compared with recent months, but large enough to encourage more opening of long closed works and more advances in returns to labor. Im-portant strikes show that the advance is portant strikes show that the advance is not enough for some, but seem not more threatening than a week ago.

Accounts of shrinkage in the yield of wheat come both from Pacific states and from the Dakotas. It would be a strange and unnatural July without such reports, and yet they have weight enough this year to lead even the most experienced to re-duce somewhat their estimates of yield. Failures for the week were 209 in the United States, against 249 for the same week last year, and 27 in Canada, against 89 last year.

Bradstreets' review says: 'The most striking features of the business week are the influences of improved crop prospects and the continued large demands for iron and steel, with one of the largest makers in the market as a buyer of Bessemer steel. Most of the commercial and industrial features of the preceding week are retained. Commercial travelers are being sent out in all leading lines, and reports from those now on the road appear to meet expectations.
